NATIONAL ACADEMIC DEPOSITORY (NAD)

Government of India initiative facilitated by MHRD.

To bring administrative and academic reforms through the use of technology for delivery of efficient services to all stakeholders.

To establish a Digital Depository of Academic Awards to be known as National Academic Depository (NAD) on the pattern of Securities Depository.

SMART BRIEF

In the recently concluded NAD Awareness Conference held in Delhi on 9th September, 2016, Hon'ble Minister of HRD, Shri P. Javadekar emphasized to roll out NAD at the earliest.

Central Depository Services (India) Limited [CDSL], a Market Infrastructure Institution is a

Securities depository operating in India, having a pan India presence. CDSL is predominantly owned by various public and private sector banks and BSE Ltd. (Bombay Stock Exchange Limited).

CDSL provides systems and infrastructure to hold electronic records of ownership of securities and records transfer of ownership electronically.

Now, CDSL has provided NAD system for creating and holding the Academic award details in electronic form and making them available 24x7 for all stakeholders.

NAD DO GOOD

Help in validating the authenticity of Academic Awards and ensuring their safe storage and easy retrieval.

Helps to verify records online 24x7 by Academic Institutions (AIs) offering higher education during admission process and by Employers during recruitment.

Eliminate fraudulent practices such as forging of certificates and mark-sheets.

NAD helps in doing away with attestation requirements.

NAD BUZZ

In pursuance to NAD initiative, CDSL has hosted Academic Awards for University of Mumbai, Solapur University, Gondwana University-Gadchiroli, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Technological University, Lonere-Raigad and are in the process of hosting Academic Awards for Ahmedabad University, International Institute of Information Technology Bangalore, Savitribai Phule Pune University, School of Planning and Architecture, Vijayawada and so on
